

December 19, 2017

To our Friends, Families, Clients, Colleagues, Followers and Supporters:

When Capital City Law was formed April 1, 2015, none of the partners knew where we would be in six months, much less after two and a half years. At that time, we were three recently barred attorneys on the top floor of 116 N Person Street. Now, our operations support four full-time attorneys, another Of Counsel attorney, and six members of our support staff – and we've been able to expand to the entire building. We have come a long way in such a short time.

Our growth and success is the product of hard work and firm commitments to our core values, brand, and approach to Modern Legal Service:

- We (our clients, our employees, ourselves) are REAL people, participating in a real and vibrant community
- Technology is the way toward more effective, and more accessible, legal service
- A five-minute conversation with your client is more memorable than a five-page letter

As we continue our commitment to those core values, Katie Dowell has made the decision to leave Capital City Law, and we regret to announce she is no longer an employee or partner with the firm as of December 16th, 2017. While change can be hard, it also represents an opportunity for growth and improvement. We are grateful for the role Katie has played at Capital City Law and we wish her and her family only the best as they begin this new chapter of their lives.

What we have accomplished over the past few years has been truly incredible and we are excited to continue this journey with our Capital City Law Team and Family. The support that we have received from many of you over the years and especially in the past few weeks has been overwhelming - and we are truly thankful to have you in our lives.

So thank you again, and cheers to change, growth and new opportunities to come.
